THE YEARBOOK
OF THE

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS

Dedication

To These . . .

And To These

FOREWORD

It was a pretty good year—wasn't it?

It was a year of crisis. The world shuddered—and progressed.

It was a year of doubts. And yet we saw the way paved for realization of a generation of dreams—our Medical Center began approaching reality.

It was like many another year, though. Freshmen ripened from their greenness. Sophomores were humbled. Juniors strutted their whites. And the Seniors — well, bless their hearts.

We enjoyed putting this record of an eventful year to press. We regret that all happenings could not be recorded, yet we hope that faces will remind you of all that happened.

We express sincere appreciation to all who cooperated in making this book possible—especially to Dr. A. W. McCullough, Dr. Owen Beard, Dr. Horace Marvin, Mr. E. W. Walker, Shrader's Studio, and Henington Publishing Company.

The CADUCEUS is a vital part of Student Publications, a portion of the American privilege of freedom of the press. Our sincere hope is that you will derive enjoyment from the book, that you will excuse omissions or any transgressions.

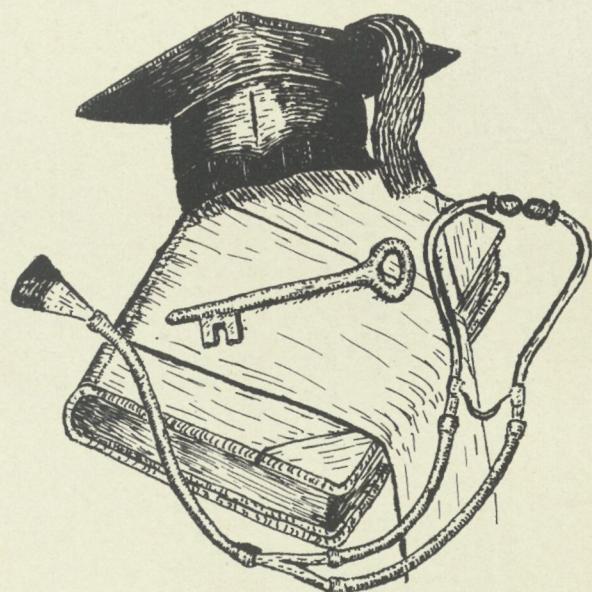

And last, a toast—may we all enjoy success forever.

And, thus, enough for clinical years—
For men so brave, for sweat and tears.
For men who tread the halls in white,
Who scream and moan with all they write.

Come now the babes of medical lore—
(For what so tender as a sophomore?)
More stirring, still oh, Bosh! !

Dear Uncle Argyll,

You said in your last letter that you didn't believe the stuff I wrote to you all this year.

Well, here's proof. Pictures, yet.
You'd better hide them, so you won't scare the kids.

Your loving nephew,
